ENGL 2 Course Description

ENGL 2 is an introductory writing course that focuses on the relationship between language and logic when composing arguments. Building on the skills acquired in ENGL 1A, you will learn to reason effectively and think rhetorically to invent, demonstrate, and express arguments clearly, logically, and persuasively.

Students will explore a local issue in the South Bay and State of California through a process of inquiry based writing assignments. Through the development of three essays and one creative project, they will explore a single, local issue through four different genres. Each stage of the semester will feature assignments that have the students critically listening, reading, and watching potential resources and examples. They will learn to understand the foundations of college-level language and the development of an argument through rhetorical appeals and concepts, which shape our ability to clearly and fluently communicate issues in the public sphere. The result will be a portfolio of critical and creative work that reflects both the core points of discussion and the competing interests that each stakeholder maintains.

ENGL 2 Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of the course, you will be able to

1. locate and evaluate sources, through library research, and integrate research through appropriate citation and quotation;
2. present effective arguments that use a full range of legitimate rhetorical and logical strategies to articulate and explain their positions on complex issues in dialogue with other points of view;
3. locate, interpret, evaluate, and synthesize evidence in a comprehensive way in support of one's ideas;
4. identify and critically evaluate the assumptions in and the context of an argument;
5. distinguish and convey inductive and deductive patterns as appropriate, sequencing arguments and evidence logically to draw valid conclusions and articulate related outcomes (implications and consequences).

ENGL 2 Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, you are expected to spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on.

Research and Writing Workshops

The Research and Writing Workshops will run the first and second week of the course. It will provide a baseline for you to begin the process of finding sources and developing an argument within this course. It is highly recommended that you do not miss the first two weeks of the semester.

Process Write x 3

Complete three 500 word responses on your writing during the course of the semester. Speak about the ideas and concepts from the lectures and class discussions. Discuss how your current essay is coming along. What are you having issues with? What is going well? What are the quality of your resources? What do you still need to do? What issues with time management, are you having? What are you going to do to complete the work in time?

Portfolio

Students will complete a portfolio assessment for the final exam. We will review this project at the end of the term

Critical Responses x 3 (+1 additional for Extra Credit)

Complete three Critical Responses based on the assigned Chapter prompts located on Canvas.

Alternative Research Project

- Digital Script – an outline and script for your video short. You will pull Claims from the outlines you use to develop your three essays. The Evidence used will be media, images, etc.
- Digital Short - once you have completed your Outline and script, you will record an audio track of the script. You will add this to video editing software that we will review in class and create a short documentary of your argument for the semester.

Grading Policy

*Student's must receive a "C-" or higher in order to pass this course.

The department's standard grading scheme consists of the following: Requirements for particular assignments will vary, but in all cases essay grades will reflect the paper's effectiveness, which is broken down into three major areas: content (this includes maturity and sophistication of thought), organization, and expression.

1. "A" range essay is organized and well-developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will show the student's ability to use language effectively with a solid command of grammar, mechanics, and usage.
2. "B" range essay demonstrates competence in the same categories as an "A" essay, but it may show slight weakness in one of these areas. It will respond to the topic suitably and may contain some grammatical, mechanical or usage errors.
3. "C" range essay will complete the requirements of the assignment, but it will show weaknesses in fundamentals, such as development. It may show weakness in mastery of grammar, mechanics, usage, or voice.
4. "D" range essay will neglect to meet all the requirements of the assignment or may be superficial in its treatment of the topic. It may lack development or fail to stay on topic. It may contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that interfere with reader comprehension.

5. “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Extra credit

- A fourth critical response will be accepted for extra credit. This option is only available if you have completed the first three critical responses.
- A final round of revisions will be made available after the Final Draft is graded. Students may revise for an additional 10 points towards the paper’s final grade.

Late work

- Late work is accepted if you reach out to me and communicate the issue at hand. The only way late work will be accepted, past the due date and without communication, is in the case of an emergency. If there is an emergency, you must provide written documentation.
- There are four units to this course that are centered on each essay. Work that is submitted past its unit, will receive an automatic ten point reduction, per new unit.

Classroom Protocol

Attendance

- San Jose State University mandates, “Attendance per se shall not be used as a criterion for grading according to University Policy F-69-24.” At the same time, all of the essays are contextualized through in-class lectures, discussions, activities, and writing. Failure to attend class at over a 20% rate will directly impact your performance in this class.
- You are adults, if you need to leave early or if you arrive late, please do so on your own accord. Later, send me an email and explain what the issue is.

Respect and Participation

- No one has to like anyone, but everyone has to work together.
- Please bring your laptops, tablets and cell phones to class. Keep the volume off on all electronic devices. If you have an emergency, please step outside at your volition.
- If the discussions are not engaging the subject matter, we will switch to in-class writing assignments.

Safety

- In the case of a fire or active harmer situation, we will review the necessary steps to ensure our safety.
 - Note the correct evacuation procedures and exits
 - Understanding the necessary options in the case of an active harmer scenario
 - Run/Hide/Fight
