

shutterstock.com · 1944566047

ENVS/PHIL 126-80: Environmental Ethics and Philosophy
Prof. Janet Giddings (janet.giddings@sjsu.edu)
Online Asynchronous (Weekly Module work; participation through discussions)
Fall 2025

We are invited to study and learn together in this timely course. This study is for now; this study is for future generations. We will consider moral issues within the ecosystem of which human animals are only a part. We will study how non-human animals and other living things are thriving or not, and why. We explore moral issues through various philosophical, ethical lenses. Questions such as: Who is responsible to ensure life is sustained on earth? All life.

Sustainability Focused

TEXT: Gregory Bassham, Environmental Ethics: The Central Issues.

Other sources/articles in online course Modules.